Directors, Administrators And Cadets Strive To Make Eisenhower Outstanding

Administrative direction has produced many changes since the completion of the three million dollar Eisenhower High School building a decade ago. Built to accommodate junior and senior high school student body for a period of years, high enrolments forced the immediate erection of Wilson Junior High. Complete occupancy was made possible for Eisenhower the fall of 1961.

In order to provide a sports field for all schools of the district, a stadium called Yakima Stadium with a seating capacity rose north of the Eisenhower campus in 1962. Further expansion occurred in the area served by Yakima Public Schools with the acquisition of Castlevale and Broadway districts during April 1962 and July 1965 respectively.

Enrollment at Eisenhower has paralleled the growth of District 7 and doubled during the ten years increasing from a 400 to a 1302 student body, attending Yakima's second high school now known as the Eisenhower Cadets.

School Board: Ralph Goold, Assistant Superintendent Robert Klavans, Assistant Superintendent Milton M. Sundquist, Paul Goode, Virginia Hylor.

Secretary Dr. Omar Scheidt, President of Yakima Valley College: Wesley Frazier, Deputy Student Governor of Yakima Valley College.

Ike Administration Leads School Through 10th

A decade ago Eisenhower opened his doors to a few students body of 64th share the present building with Washington High. A faculty of six instructed the group of enterprising students. Since then Eisenhower has grown to a school of 122 students and a 14 member faculty with seven administrators.

Nineteen fifty seven administration consisted of Principal Ted J. Murphy, Vice Principal John Anderson, assisted by Neale Ethridge and Bob Rogers as guidance counselors respectively. Edna Bailey served in the position of attendance counselor and registrar.

Mrs. Murphy, vice principal, checks his calendar to check dates for extra-curricular activities.

Principal Ted J. Murphy leaves his office to attend to the many administrative duties.

Mrs. Ethridge is a counselor, as one of the many duties coming to her office.

Successful Year

Nineteen sixty five witnessed the addition of a second vice principal, Verne Harold, and the moving of the activity office and attendance office to the vacated administrative area on the west side. Bob Rogers moved to first vice principal and Richard Lott replaced Keith Cobb as attendance counselor. Red Jack Nichols replaced Mr. Harold the same year with Owen Hurst taking his place as Boys Counselor.

Administrative personnel increased in 66 by the addition of a Vocational Counselor, Gary Dietzen, to complete a staff of seven in a three year cycle.

Vice Principal Bob Rogers cheerfully handles frequent curriculum changes and consults with faculty members.

Secretaries, Mrs. Marie, Mrs. Sylvia and Mrs. (L) do the major and the task that keeps the school running smoothly.

Mr. Hurst, boys counselor, advises senior boys on high school credits and graduation status.

No honor or responsibility conferred by the school excels that represented by the National Honor Society. This organization represents the fundamental objectives held high in every institution of learning. Recognition of outstanding students encourages enthusiasm for high scholastic achievement and effective leadership. Members tapped for Honor Society represent the four cardinal principles of leadership: character, scholarship and service. Twenty-one juniors joined the 21 seniors, whose selection was made in the spring, to make up the Eisenhower chapter.

During the fall the Honor Society sponsored an annual book fair. Proceeds from this sale helped to provide the Honor Society scholarship fund. These scholarships were awarded to two members and two non members of the Honor Society. Students selected for this honor represent the four cardinal principles of NHS. The Spring Banquet, held at the Holiday, concluded the year's activities.

Performing at the Eisenhower Open House began a busy year for the orchestra. This group, under the direction of Mr. Schachter, had a full rehearsal schedule in preparation for two additional performances: a Thanksgiving Assembly and the Christmas program.

January found the orchestra hard at work on the music for Funny Girl, the school musical. These performances required many hours of rehearsing.

In March three orchestra members, Karen Childress, Maxine Hance, and Steve Love, went to Missoula, Montana, to participate in the All Northwest Orchestra.

Playing for Commencement, the orchestra completed the year's activities.

Three whistles, two, three, lift, and the Cadet Marching Band directed by Mr. Schachtler stepped to its tenth year of performance. Starting a busy schedule in early September, the band marched in the Ellensburg Rodeo Parade, Wapato Harvest Parade, and opened the Central Washington State Fair with two concerts. Half-time routines climaxed by the Ike Davis football game and the Veterans Day Parade highlighted fall activities.

With the coming of winter, the Cadet Band worked on concert performances. They played for the Eisenhower student body, Franklin Junior High, and presented a winter concert for the public. Activities continued with a special appearance at the National Security Seminar in February.

Two band members, Starr Horner and Fred Schachtler, received the special honor of representing Eisenhower in the All Northwest Band.

An All City Music Festival and the Memorial Day Parade brought the band's activities to a conclusion.

Lancers Entertain The Community

They make music wherever they go, can truthfully be said of Eisenhower's vocal music department. Under the direction of Mr. Durado, the combined choral groups presented a Fall Choral Concert to open the '66-'67 season. Eisenhower's annual Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, enhanced with group and individual vocal selections by the eighty-four member choir, delighted the student body.

The Lancers, a select singing group composed of twenty-one voices, entertained at numerous school assemblies and functions. This talented group also became a favorite form of entertainment for many community organizations and locally held state conventions.

Various assemblies and a Spring Concert, including girls' glee and men's chorus, added harmony to the year.

Captain Linda Rosenkranz and Lieutenant Kim Feitush led the twenty-nine members of the 1967 drill team. During the year the girls performed at both football and basketball games. Accompanied by the Eisenhower Cadet Band the Hi-Steppers marched at the Ellensburg Rodeo Parade, the Wapato Labor Day Parade and the Lilac Festival Parade in Spokane. The drill team for the second year, entered the state-wide contest in Everett, placing third in divisional competition and sixth in state. The Hi-Steppers sponsored the annual Tolo dance and hosted a work shop for valley schools in April.

CADENCE . . . Competition, with its scenes of combat and trials of mortal agony, lasts no more than a wink of an eye in the saga of man. Yet as men pass on, so do the day's heroes, but the dreams of men's athletic prowess never die for they are the expression of the times. Like the times, the Cadet in cadence strives forward in the competitive world of today.

Twenty-four Seniors Lead

Opening the 1966 football season, Eisenhower traveled to Oregon for a contest with Pendleton. Ike's Cadets lost a chance to break the Bucks two year winning streak when a holding penalty nullified Bud Cooper's sixty yard sprint for a TD, leaving Pendleton with a 13-7 victory.

In a non league contest with Davis the following week, Ike allowed the Pirates to score three times, all on passes. A last touchdown in an 8-0 win came as the final gun sounded.

Bouncing back after two losses, the Cadets rolled over Evergreen of Vancouver for a 32-0 victory. Dick Englund paved the way by tossing a 70 yard touchdown pass to Tom Amos on the opening play of the game.

Cadets

Priming themselves mentally for the game, the Cadets huddle together.

Eisenhower hosted Walla Walla's 1966 Big Eight Champions for the following Friday night thriller. Scoring on a long bomb with one minute left, the Blue Devils stole the victory from the Cadets 7-6.

On Ike's home field, Yakima Stadium, Eisenhower next met the Wenatchee Panthers. Despite dominating the entire game, the Cadets lacked the scoring power needed to break the 7-7 tie.

Seven days later at Richland, Eisenhower crushed the Bombers 34-19. Cadet offense sparkled as they passed and ran to victory.

Eisenhower's fans next saw the Cadets' only successful match at home, as Ike piled up a 26-0 score over Kennewick.

Cadet gridders faced a fired-up Moses Lake team the succeeding week. During the second quarter, the Chiefs led 13-0, but Eisenhower came roaring back to win 26-13, placing the team in contention for the league championship.

Pasco took the wind out of Ike's sails, handing the Cadets a 32-6 setback at the Tri-Cities. During the second half, our defense dug in and held the Bulldogs scoreless.

Arch-rivals Eisenhower and Davis clashed in Yakima's annual Super Bowl on November 10. A touchdown by Tom Amos gave Ike a 7-6 edge over the Pirates at the half. Davis drove for two additional TD's in the second half, allowing them to retain the Skookum Jim Trophy.

This year's mile relay team, consisting of Ray Bondin, Larry Keltner, Steve Schroeder, and Jim Klavans, took a sixth place at state in a school record time of 3:24.6.

Dick Duncan takes third at state with a school 880 record of 1:54.

Celebrating an undefeated season, Ike led off by defeating Snohomish 99 to 37. Eisenhower's cindermen won the Pasco and Wapato Invitationals by overwhelming margins. Ike's spikers beat Ellensburg 86 to 54 in another dual meet and defeated Davis, Moses Lake, and Wenatchee in a quadrangular held in Moses Lake. Coach Holder's team burned up the track in winning the Big 8 Relays with a total of 124 1/2 points. Eisenhower won the Sub Sub District against Davis by a score of 101 to 35. The next week, the Cadets traveled to Pasco and lopped all contenders to take the Sub District meet with 125 against 109. As hosts, Ike captured the District meet by overwhelming 16 other teams with a total of 103 points against the next highest contender's 64. In District, Ike qualified 10 trackmen for the trip to State. At Pullman, Bob Cooper turned in a fifth place in the 220-yard dash. Ike's mile-relay team collected a sixth place, and the 880 relay squad sprinted to a fourth place, ranking the Cadets 11th in state competition.

Tournament By One Point

THE S tennis team enjoyed a successful 1967 season. Coach Dan Evans kept the team practicing every night after school in preparation for the District and State tournaments. Jack Darnton and Dave Whiteside placed first in the doubles finals leading the Cadets to the Yakima District Tennis Championship.

The girls' tennis team played seven league matches and two exhibition matches to win all but two of the games. The boys' team remained undefeated for the season.

Spencer Davis Strikes Out 103 Batters

A few days after the game...

Eisenhower's baseball team finished its tenth season and compiled a 20-8 record under the leadership of Curtis Christian as new head coach. Jumping off to a fast start, the Cadets won the first eight games. The team's string of victories continued in the latter part of the season. The team finished fifth in the Class B state tournament with a victory over Dallas in the final game.

Jim Thompson led the team with a batting average of .374.
 Mike Nelson had five home runs to lead the team in that department, while Terry Anderson topped the team in runs scored with nineteen. Spencer Davis led in pitching with a 2.00 record for the season and a 1.31 earned run average. Seniors and juniors made the varsity to brighten a championship team next year.

Sophomores Lead The Second Year Of Varsity Golf

Varsity golf swung into a second season with two Invitational Tournaments. In Wenatchee they placed 3rd and in Kennewick they took 6th out of approximately 25 entrants. This year thirty-two boys turned out for the team, 19 sophomores, 7 juniors, and 6 seniors. Eleven players made the varsity team and played a challenging season. In league play Ike came up against opponents from Wenatchee, Sunnyside, Davis, Wapato, Kennewick, Naches, Highland, Seah, Pasco, and West Valley. This year's team ended the season with a 10 win 2 loss record placing first in league standing.

Roster buses to out of town games, the annual Easter lily sale, good post decorating, and the Homecoming dance led the list of activities involving the Pep Club this past year. Program sales at regular season games and the district basketball tournament supported these functions. Officers and Pep Club cabinet members, Betty Drinkwater and Chris Hutchings, Mrs. Debbie Moy and Sarah Winterringer, Mrs. and Barb Lynch and Colie Wheel, selected a new uniform for the Eisenhower Pep Club approved by the membership. Red blazers, crested with the school's coat of arms, cadet blue skirts and white blouses complete the outfit. Miss Finney acted as advisor and chaperone on all bus trips.

Gales, the Girls Athletic League of Eisenhower, provided a varied program of intramural sports for girls at Ike again this year. Under the leadership of President Sharon Davis and advisors Miss Finney and Mrs. Wagner, Gales held a basketball sports day at Eisenhower in January with ten schools. All members attended sports days at CWSC. Gales also worked with the Pep Club on the Eagle.

Lettermen's Club consists of team members from varsity sports, football, basketball, wrestling, baseball, track, tennis, and golf, who gain entrance to the club upon receipt of a letter. This organization aims to promote greater participation in athletics function in the school. Write sweated Lettermen patrolled game areas and served as faculty assistants.

Activities sponsored included a spring Lettermen's Dance and several sports awards banquets. A bright blue wrestling mat centered with a red I K E arrived this year through the efforts of this group and advisor Mr. Frazier.

FFA, the Future Farmers of America, aims to promote agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship construction. The aim of the Future Farmers of America at Eisenhower is to develop leadership.

FFA members made up the Year's activities. FFA members took part in several contests, one at Hah and where members took seventh place at Yakima, where members took seventh place at Yakima, first place at Othello, second place at Yakima, ninth place at Sunnyside, and fifth at Othello. This group also attended three dairy judging contests at Vancouver, B.C., placing 20th, Portland placing 12th, and Sunnyside placing ninth. Most of the contests were attended by several hundred contestants.

Future Teachers of America stimulated students to explore various fields related to teaching and gave senior members actual teaching experience at Yakima elementary school.

An initiation of new members inaugurated FTA's 10th year. As the year progressed, members assisted teachers, held a doughnut sale to finance a retarded child at camp, and cared at the Yakima Valley School during the Christmas holidays. An annual FTA banquet closed the year's activities of this group advised by Mrs. Marquard.

Thespians selected members on a point basis for having participated in dramatic activities at Eisenhower. Lights, Curtain! You're on! could be called the passwords to a Thespian membership, a national dramatics honorary. This group attended the State Thespian Convention in Tacoma last year. Members in March, and was supervised in these activities by Mrs. Marquard.

Care For Cadets' Every Need

Roy Zer

Celebrating the 20th anniversary of the National School Lunch Program, the theme of this year's observance was "School Lunch Serves the Nation." Established to protect the health and well-being of the nation's students, the National School Lunch Program demonstrates an outstanding example of local, state and federal cooperation. Seventy-five percent of Eisenhower's students benefit from this program. Three lunch hours have become necessary to serve our expanding student body.

6. Rich Ahlbrecht and Marty Perchegon make their esle ments.
7. Math Science Resource Center provides Bill Huttman with an excellent study.

One decade has witnessed many changes and an expanded academic program providing each student at Eisenhower with a variety of educational opportunities. Large group lecture followed by small classroom discussions have been experienced by many Eisenhower students. This is a great variety of subject matter, history, social studies, biology, and English department employed a trimester program making classes every three weeks. Increased emphasis on individual study, additional electives and expanded resource centers have greatly improved the facilities for academic study for all students.

Pageantry Sets The Stage For The Fall Play

Essex House moved into its tenth dramatic season with a new director and a delightful comedy. A cast of thirty-five directed by Elizabeth Page presented The Mouse That Roared in the Essex House Little Theatre. The cast provided the student body with a free matinee before two public performances on November 1 and 2.

To better understand the plot of this satire on the United States foreign policy picture a microscopic country, Grand Fenwick, in the fourteenth century. A number of unusual circumstances forces this tiny kingdom to wage war on the United States. Tilly, Bosch, leader of the Russian forces captures Dr. Korntz, an eccentric professor, along with his discovery, the Q bomb. From the battle front at Mount Olympus University, the army returns victorious to Grand Fenwick.

Tilly proposes they form an organization to protect the world from the big three and other aggressors called the Tiny Twenty. They threaten to use their new possession, the Q bomb, as a peace weapon to prevent any future attempts at war.

Sofia, the Duchess of Grand Fenwick, announces her engagement to Tilly, the conqueror, as the curtain falls on the first act scene of this clever Broadway satire.

Even though the play broke no attendance record, it provided a large, fast, excellent dramatic experience and a pleasant two hours to all who attended.

Tilly Mountjoy sounds the attack alarm.

Melvin Stevenson dabs a few drops of grape stain on his face with a crane and pipe pen.

Pictured In Song

From the 1930s to the 1950s, Broadway shows drew audiences with a European-style theatricality to the vaudeville traditions of their past. But the 1960s and 1970s brought a new kind of theater to the stage. Some of the Broadway musicals of the 1960s and 1970s shared a new, more socially conscious approach to the American scene. The popularity of the musical was revived by the 1980s and 1990s with the success of "The Phantom of the Opera" and "Chicago." And the musical has continued to grow in popularity, with the two biggest Broadway musicals, "The Phantom of the Opera" and "Chicago," leading the way. The musical has become a major part of the American cultural landscape, and it is likely to continue to grow in popularity for many years to come.

Spring Play

The Song of Bernadette presented by the teacher-student drama department completed a year of three major dramatic productions. Bernadette Soubirous, a young French girl, visualized the Virgin Mary in a grotto near Lourdes. The play dramatized the story of this girl's life and the acceptance of her vision by the town's people. Members of the cast, Mrs. Page, the drama coach, and Mr. Kiege, and his stage crew worked weeks to present this drama to the student body and school patrons.

The cast in order of appearance included:

|                      |  |

Pep Club Presents

King Jeff Rider and Queen Trudi Lewis

Prince Rick Fairbrook and Princess Mary Holder

Prince Dick Duncan and Princess Sherry Brooks

Highlighted by red, white and blue streamers, a football field set the mood for a colorful Homecoming dance. Tens on rose in the air as U S E President Norm Elder introduced Jeff Rider, Rick Fairbrook, Dick Duncan, Trudi Lewis, Mary Holder and Sherry Brooks as the candidates for king and queen. After crowning Trudi Lewis and Jeff Rider, Norm Elder presented Queen Trudi with one dozen red roses. The Homecoming royalty then danced to the music of the 'TGIF' band.

Football shaped programs and miniature pennants decorated the tables where couples relaxed while not dancing to favorites like 'Moon River' and 'Days of Wine and Roses'. Eleven thirty found everyone with a collection of balloons, pennants, programs, goalposts, and murals as souvenirs before they left with fond memories of Eisenhower's Homecoming 1966.

Gayly decorated packages surrounded the large, flocked Christmas tree in “Santa’s Workshop,” at Ike’s annual Mid Winter Formal sponsored by the Girls’ League. A toy shoppe complete with a real-live Jack in the Box, Craig Childress, and a charming elf, Christie Lindeman provided one of the many pleasant diversions for the evening. Couples danced to the music of the Fred Brooks Band in an atmosphere of the season’s festivities. A trio composed of Rick Fairbrook, Donna Martin and Mike McRae, with soloist, Judy Clifford, and folk singers Todd and Starla entertained during intermission. Santa Claus (Mr. Ho-Ho-Holder, our only on-stage instructor, well stuffed with pillows) and a model train added to the charm of “Santa’s Workshop” for the 1967 formal.

High Steppers Stage

He and Seppie purchased the property, named it "Pearl's", and created the neighborhood with 31 Pearl's and his friends. A Seattle band, The German, provided music to the "club" and a "frabby dance". A game room supplied pool, pinochle, and the "wife" for Seppie who lived in the street, a dance floor and a bar. For a time, the "King" Steve Schneider by Dr. Team Japan and a local "extraordinary" brought the evening. The owner, who had a date, called the "Parker" Terry, Anderson, A. J. Campbell and Bob Seppie.

Once Upon A Time

Once upon a time, there was a king and queen who had a daughter named Snow White. She was the fairest girl in the land. One day, the king and queen died, and Snow White was left alone in the castle.

The king and queen were very kind to her, and she loved them very much. But one day, the king and queen died, and Snow White was left alone in the castle.

CADENCE . . . Sophomores, juniors and seniors fall in step with Cadet life . . . from the challenge of a game of 5-square . . . to the exchange of gossip on the stair . . . from the attention captured by the cadence of a symphony . . . to the ecstatic happiness of an IKE over Davis victory . . . from a moment of solitary contemplation . . . to the eventual

Baccalaureate And Commencement

Class Motto:

To Strive . . .

To Seek . . .

To Find . . .

At the baccalaureate service, the students of the class of 1960.

CADENCE . . . Thus the conclusion of another year, the first decade, marked with the continuous vitality of the Eisenhower student body . . . innovations, tri-mester confusion, indoor and outdoor readerboards . . . individual experiences to remember . . . Sophomores look back to the first day — first year — of high school . . . Juniors look ahead to the long awaited Senior year . . . and Seniors step into the future — with some regret but high ambition . . . the never ending cadence of life continues . . .
